Dear Readers:

As Memorial Day (2018) passes, we begin the Summer with the hope that the Fall Elections will bring a semblance of normalcy to a very tumultuous political system. The U.S. Immigration and Nationality arena continues to be fraught with angst, strife and unpredictability. Changes to the system are being reported on a daily basis. The Trump Administration continues its "Buy American . . . Hire American" dicta which continues to create ripple-effects in both domestic and international relations as well as on the immigration scene.

The Immigration & Nationality Bar is turning its attention to: (1) quotas imposed on the Immigration Law Courts for Removals/Deportations; and (2) a proposal to limit the ability for cases to be administratively closed; and (3) Asylum cases being handled on a "Last-in . . . First-out" basis; and (4) high number of 221(g) Administrative Holds at the Consulate Offices worldwide; and (5) a very onerous and extremely high-level of scrutiny being imposed upon cases in the business immigration arena. Many of the newly-proposed processes and procedures are screaming out as violations of due process. Nevertheless, lingering in our minds is that litigation (of any type) is still an extremely-costly and time-consuming option and one that is not for the faint of heart.

Immigration lawyers across the U.S. are slowly retooling their practices to challenge arbitrary actions of the Federal Government in the Federal Court. It is only a matter of time before Writs of Mandamus and other equitable Federal Court actions will be commonplace for immigration practitioners. While the immigration and nationality lawyers at NPZ continue to believe that "patience and persistence" will prevail, we are also mindful of ensuring that our clients are aware that they do possess certain rights which can (and should) be protected by the U.S. judicial system.

We remind our readers that we are immigration and nationality lawyers and immigration attorneys. We have offices in New Jersey, NY and affiliated offices in India and in Canada. We would be pleased to assist you, your friends, your relatives or your colleagues with any immigration law issues. USCIS EXPANDS ONLINE FILING: APPLICANTS CAN NOW REQUEST REPLACEMENT NATURALIZATION CERTIFICATES AND NATURALIZATION HEARINGS ONLINE.

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) announced that Form N-565, Application for Replacement of Naturalization/Citizenship Document, and Form N-336, Request for a Hearing on a Decision in Naturalization Proceedings (Under Section 336 of the INA), can be filed online.

Applicants use Form N-565 to replace a naturalization certificate, certificate of citizenship, or a repatriation certificate. They may also use it to apply for a special certificate of naturalization as a U.S. citizen to be recognized by a foreign country. Applicants use Form N-336 to request a hearing before an immigration officer if USCIS has denied their application for naturalization.

ENTREPRENEUR PAROLE DEATH KNELL: ANOTHER NAIL IN THE COFFIN FOR IMMIGRANT ENTREPRENEURS.

The Department of Homeland security (DHS) proposes to remove the International Entrepreneur Rule (IER) program that allows qualifying foreign entrepreneurs to be considered for parole so that they can come to the U.S. temporarily to develop and build start-up businesses.

The IER was enacted by the Obama Administration in an effort to "increase and enhance entrepreneurship, innovation, and job creation in the United States." The rule gave DHS discretionary authority to allow certain foreign entrepreneurs of start-up businesses with a "demonstrated potential for rapid business growth and job creation," to enter under a parole status and stay in the United States to oversee and grow their start-up businesses. Days before the Rule's July 17th, 2017, effective date, DHS filed a new rule delaying the implementation of the IER until March 14th, 2018.

Now it looks like it may be DOA . . .

HUMAN RESOURCE PROFESSIONALS NEED TO BE SURE THAT THEIR ORGANIZATIONS COMPLY WITH THE I-9 RULES: VERIFYING EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY TO WORK .

What is my legal obligation as an employer to verify an employee's right to work in the U.S.?

Before hiring a new employee, employers are required to ensure an employee is eligible to work in the United States. Knowingly hiring illegal employees or failing to inquire as to an employee's immigration status could result in legal fines and other penalties. Employee eligibility is typically determined through completion of the Form I-9, along with confirming evidence as to the employee's employment authorization.

Form I-9 is a federal form used to verify the identity of an employee as well as the employee's employment authorization. All United States employers, regardless of their field or size, must ensure completion of a Form I-9 for each new employee. Form I-9 must be completed for both citizens and noncitizens.

FOIA ONLINE: USCIS TO IMPLEMENT ONLINE PROCESSING OF FOIA REQUESTS.

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) announced the launch of our Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Immigration Records System (FIRST), which will eventually allow users to submit, manage, and receive FOIA requests entirely online. Before this change, USCIS only accepted FOIA requests by mail, fax, and email, and requestors typically received their documents on a compact disc by mail.

USCIS is commencing FIRST's digital delivery of services in phases. Initially, requestors who have an immigration court date pending and file a request for documents can create an account within my USCIS to receive documents digitally, eliminating the time and expense associated with receiving requests by mail.

c/o Mr. Shishir Goyal,

PLEASE LET US KNOW?

DOS posted the Visa Bulletin for June 2018. In addition to the final action dates and dates for filing applications, the Bulletin also includes notes on the diversity visa cut-offs, Special Immigrant translator visa availability, and visa availability for Mexico E4 and SR.

Note: As of May 10th, 2018, USCIS has not advised whether in June 2018, it will accept adjustment of status applications for family- or employment-based petitions based on filing dates, rather than final action dates. USCIS anticipates that this information will be released within one week of the monthly Visa Bulletin

IMMIGRATION MARRIAGE CASES: IS YOUR MARRIAGE BONA FIDE? WHAT TO EXPECT AT YOUR MARRIAGE INTERVIEW - I-130/I-485.

If you're part of a married couple that includes a U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident and a foreign national, and you've applied for the foreign national to get a U.S. green card (lawful permanent residence), the final step in your application process will be to attend an interview with U.S. immigration authorities.

Such an interview serves various purposes. The U.S. immigration authorities interview many people who apply for green cards, not just married couples. This gives them an opportunity to make sure that the relationship is the real thing, that all your paperwork checks out against what you say in person, and to examine your original documents (since you hopefully sent in copies).

However, in the case of married couples, the interview serves an additional purpose: to make sure the marriage is real, not just a sham to get the immigrant a green card. Due to the ease and speed with which aliens become citizens through marriage, many aliens marry for immigration benefits rather than for love. The U.S. government is well aware of this, and will ask a number of personal questions of both spouses in order to test whether they're telling the truth.
